

Team Builders

Fraction action

- Individual
- Pairs
- Small group
- Whole group

Uses: This is a group sorting activity: It will allow you to randomly form teams of three, four or five.

Resources: Fraction cards: depending on what size you want your groups, select the right number of cards, one for each participant. The resources will make a maximum of five groups of eight participants each.

Time: 5 minutes per activity.

What to do:

1. Give each person one card.
2. Ask them to mingle with each other and find their team members using their cards.
3. Once they have found their ten members, they should introduce themselves to each other. You could use one of the other team building activities to help bring the team together before moving on to other activities.

Make it different:

- Instead of fraction cards, you can use photographs or magazine pictures, or positive quotations that are cut up into the right number of pieces for the teams you want.

Points to make:

- Same value, different appearance. There are many different ways to get to the same point. Many of these mathematical terms are different ways of looking at the same value.
